ANB's Matt Browning Makes Fort Worth Business Press "40 Under 40" Class of 2009

North Richland Hills, Texas (May 26, 2009)—Matt Browning, president of the North Richland Hills Banking Center for American National Bank of Texas (ANB), has been named one of the Fort Worth Business Press' "40 Under 40" and will be honored at the May 28 celebration.

The 40 Under 40 awards are presented annually to 40 individuals under the age of 40 who help shape the future of Tarrant County through business and community involvement.

"Matt has made an indelible impression on both his customers and the community," said Perry Ginn, ANB's regional president over Tarrant and Johnson Counties. "He is a genuinely committed individual and places great importance on community service. We are proud of his accomplishments and pleased that he is being recognized for his contributions."

Browning is an active member of three chambers of commerce: North East Chamber, HEB Chamber, and Keller Chamber. He participates on the Loan Committee for the Fort Worth Economic Development Corporation and on the Steering Committee of Our Lady of Grace Catholic High School in Roanoke. He is also an active member of the Finance Committee for St. Elizabeth Ann Seton Catholic Church in Keller. On behalf of ANB, Browning has also spearheaded donations and participation in Birdville High School programs such as the annual "Best Buddies" as well as ongoing teacher appreciation luncheons and activities.
